1. Introduction

Section 28 of the Municipal System Act (Act 32 of 2000) requires that each Municipal Council adopts a process plan that would guide the planning, drafting, adoption and review of the IDP, Budget and Performance. The process plan should have clear and established mechanism, procedures and processes to ensure proper consultation with the local communities. It should indicate clearly how the IDP process will work, who will be responsible for what, time frames and milestones will be set and a budget will be aligned to the programme.

Section 21 of the Municipal Finance Management Act (Act 56 of 2003) also provides the following:

The mayor of a municipality must—

- (1) (b) at least 10 months before the start of the budget year, table in the municipal council a time schedule outlining key deadlines for the preparation, tabling and approval of the annual budget;

2.1.1 DISTRICT DEVELOPMENT MODEL

Principles underpinning the New District Coordination Model

The main problem is that the current system is reliant on each sphere to align their plans with the other spheres especially in respect of strategic infrastructure investment, whereas a more efficient approach is to have all three spheres of government work off a common strategic alignment platform. A district coordination model provides such a platform.

The manifestation of the current situation is a highly inefficient utilization of funds and resources and even wastage. Government is not getting the outcomes it would like to see on the ground where the investment is impacting at the right scale and quality for communities. There is no clear spatial logic and outcomes that enable better integrated place-making but often sector/silo-based outputs. In this manner apartheid spatial logics are often being perpetuated, rather than being broken down.

Cooperative governance is still largely elusive, with planning and investment spending of all three spheres of government often misaligned, inadequately targeted spatially and not coordinated sufficiently to optimize service delivery results and integrated development outcomes. The system of cooperative governance is evolving in South Africa. Following several years of implementation there are sufficient lessons and realities that point to the need for a more decisive refinement and enhancement to the way cooperative governance/ intergovernmental relations (IGR) is approached in practice.

Objectives of the District Development Model

The district/metropolitan focus emanating from the Cabinet Lekgotla has a bearing on the Department of Cooperative Governance's mandate which includes a district (and metro) based approach to speed up delivery ensuring that municipalities are properly supported and adequately resourced. The main objectives of the new model include the following:

- a) To focus on the District/Metropolitan spaces as the appropriate scale and arena for intergovernmental planning and coordination.
- b) To focus on the 44 Districts + 8 Metros as developmental spaces (IGR Impact Zones) that will be strategic alignment platforms for all three spheres of government.

c) To produce a Spatially Integrated Single Government Plan (as an Intergovernmental Compact) for each of these spaces that guides and directs all strategic investment spending and project delivery across government, and forms the basis for accountability.

d) This approach reinforces an outcomes-based IGR system where there is a systematic IGR programme and process associated with the formulation and implementation of a single government plan. This signifies a shift from highly negotiated Alignment of Plans to a regulated cooperative governance One Plan.

e) One of the core objective is to take development to our communities as key beneficiaries and actors of what government does, and where they have a stake.

The purpose of enhancing cooperative governance through a new district coordination model is to improve the coherence and spatial targeting impact of all three spheres of government working together in unison.

This unison is achieved when there is a common appreciation and understanding by all three spheres of government of the service delivery and development dynamics, challenges and opportunities in various communities calibrated for practical purposes at a district/metropolitan spatial scale.

2.2 MECHANISMS AND PROCEDURES FOR PARTICIPATION

2.2.1 Functions and context of public participation

Chapter 4 of the Municipal Systems Act, (Act 32 of 2000) section 17(2) stipulates that a municipality must establish appropriate mechanisms, processes and procedures to enable the local community to participate in the affairs of the municipality.

Four major functions can be aligned with the public participation process namely:

4. PRINCIPLES OF MONITORING AND EVALUATION

1. Monitoring and evaluation should contribute to improved governance

- Transparency All findings are publicly available unless there are compelling reasons otherwise
- Accountability Use of resources is open to scrutiny.
- Participation Voice is provided to historically marginalized people.
- Inclusion Traditionally excluded interests are represented throughout the M&E process

2. Monitoring and evaluation should be rights based

- Bill of Rights • A rights-based culture is promoted and entrenched by its inclusion in the value base for all M&E processes.

3. Monitoring and evaluation should be development orientated – nationally, institutionally and locally

- Pro-poor orientation Poverty's causes, effects and dynamics are highlighted, and the interests of poor people are prioritized above those of more advantaged groups.
- Service delivery and performance Variables reflecting institutional performance and service delivery are analyzed and reviewed, links are identified, and responsive strategies are formulated.
- Learning Knowledge and an appetite for learning are nurtured in institutions and individuals.
- Human resource management the skills required for deliberative M&E are available, fostered and retained while the knowledge needed for strategic HR utilization is available and used.
- Impact awareness The possible impacts of M&E interventions are considered and reflected upon in plans and their actual outcomes are tracked and analyzed systematically and consistently.

4. Monitoring and evaluation should be undertaken ethically and with integrity

- Confidentiality Processes ensure the responsible use of personal and sensitive information; Promises of anonymity and non-identifiability are honored and relied upon.
- Respect Dignity and self-esteem are built among stakeholders and affected people.
- Representation of competence there is skillful and sensitive implementation of M&E processes. Those engaged in monitoring and evaluation fairly represent their competence and the limitations of their reports.
- Fair reporting provides a fair and balanced account of the findings.

5. Monitoring and evaluation should be utilization orientated

- Defining and meeting expectations M&E products meet knowledge and strategic needs.
- Supporting utilization A record of recommendations is maintained, and their implementation followed up and an accessible central repository of evaluation reports and indicators is maintained.

6. Monitoring and evaluation should be methodologically sound

- Consistent indicators Common indicators and data collection methods are used where possible to improve data quality and allow trend analysis.
- Data/evidence based Findings are clearly based on systematic evidence and analysis.
- Appropriateness Methodology matches the questions being asked.
- Triangulated Multiple sources are used to build more credible findings.

7. Monitoring and evaluation should be operationally effective

- Planned As an integrated component of public management, M&E is routine and regularized.
- Scope The scale of M&E reflects its purpose, level of risk and available resources.
- Managed• Conscientious management of the function leads to sustained on-time delivery of excellence.
- Cost effective the benefits of M&E are clear, and its scale is appropriate given resource availability.
- Systematic Robust systems are built up that are resilient and do not depend on individuals or chance. (Presidency, 2007:3)

5. Monitoring

Strategies must be monitored continually to ensure that they align with internal and external environmental trends and change. Monitoring involves aligning outputs and outcomes with indicators of success.

“Monitoring is a continuous managerial function that aims to provide managers, decision-makers and main stakeholders with regular feedback and early indications of progress or lack thereof in the achievement of intended results and the attainment of goals and objectives. Monitoring involves reporting on actual performance against what was planned or expected according to predetermined standards. Monitoring generally involves collecting and analysing data on implementation processes, strategies and results, and recommending corrective measures.” (Presidency, 2005:5)

“Monitoring is a never-ending oversight process that focuses on tracking on-going activities and is not a once-off activity.” (Thornhill et al, 2014:179)

The IDP, Budget and PMS offices shall coordinate the development of the IDP and Budget according to the process plan and report accordingly to the Municipal Manager.

The District Mayor’s IGR Forum shall monitor and ensure compliance to the District IDP Framework.

The IDP/Budget/PMS Steering committee will monitor and ensure compliance in the implementation of process plans.

Department of Cooperative Governance, and Traditional Affairs (COGTA) and Office of the Premier will ensure support on the coordination and alignment of Provincial and National Departments and any other role players.

The National Treasury’s Framework for Strategic Plans and Annual Performance Plans (2012) “sets out a framework to align strategic and annual performance planning with emphasis on the outcomes oriented monitoring and evaluation approach

6. Evaluation

Thornhill et al (2014:414) describes evaluation as “the systematic and objective assessment of an ongoing or completed project, programme or policy, its design, implementation and results”, and say that it should “provide information that is credible and useful”.

The plan and its implementation must be evaluated to address areas of weakness and to identify ways to improve implementation and outcomes. This is vital, as it allows organisations to learn from their mistakes and continually improve their strategies. A SWOT analysis can also be used as an evaluation tool to highlight weaknesses to be improved upon.

Strategy evaluation operates at two levels: firstly, at strategic level, where the concern is with the consistency of the strategy within the environment; and secondly, at operational level, where the effort is directed at assessing how well the organisation is pursuing a given strategy. The purpose of strategy evaluation is therefore to evaluate the effectiveness of strategy in achieving organizational objectives.

Strategy evaluation requires:

- Examining the underlying basis of an organisation’s strategy;
- Comparing expected results with actual results; and
- Taking corrective action.

Any evaluation is only as good as the information on which it is based. Adequate feedback on the success of strategies is the cornerstone of effective strategy evaluation.

Lazenby (2015:388) notes four criteria that can be used to evaluate a strategy:

- Consistency: Is the strategy still consistent with the organisation’s goals and policies?
- Feasibility: Can the strategy be implemented with limited resources?
- Consonance: Can the policy be adapted to changes in the external environment? and
- Advantage: Is the strategy still effective in providing the organisation with competitive advantage?

7. Monitoring and Evaluation Systems

However, evaluating the strategy is not enough. The implementation of the strategy and its success must be monitored and evaluated, so that it can be amended if necessary.

The Presidency (2007:4) offers this definition of a monitoring and evaluation system:

“A monitoring and evaluation system is a set of organisational structures, management processes, standards, strategies, plans, indicators, information systems, reporting lines and accountability relationships which enables national and provincial departments, municipalities and other institutions to discharge their monitoring and evaluation functions effectively. In addition to these formal managerial elements are the organisational culture, capacity and other enabling conditions which will determine whether the feedback from the monitoring and evaluation function influences the organisation’s decision-making, learning and service delivery.”

The benefits of monitoring and evaluation are (DPME, 2011):

- Promote learning that can improve a policy, programme and project and the way it is implemented;
 - Ensure that improvements and management decisions are based on evidence;
 - Become aware of the programmes that are delivered in a cost-effective manner and apply relevant lessons to other programmes or projects;
 - Save money by correcting mistakes through the monitoring process and not repeating mistakes gleaned from the evaluation process; and
 - Develop an improved understanding of issues affecting the implementation of the policy, programme or project. This understanding will help in addressing institutional bottlenecks and improve impact because the policy, programme or project was adapted as a result of the M&E process.
